GH Electrical is pleased to announce we can now offer a Thermal Imaging Service to our customers.

We now have two staff members as Certified Level 1 Thermographers, ensuring comprehensive, professional photos and reports.

Thermal imaging is a critical preventative maintenance task, identifying potential problems before they occur, avoiding equipment failure and potential electrical fires.

Every business should use thermal imaging as part of their preventative maintenance program

Many insurance companies recommend/require thermal imaging/reporting for current insurance policies.

For any enquiries please contact our office on (03)50233441
